CLEAR RIDGE.

Mrs. Mary H. Fields and Nassa Hoeter were visiting friends in Trough Creek a few days.

George Raker has found employment in Pittsburg.

W. R. Evans and George Deshong, of Hustontown, were in our town Monday evening.

Joseph Alexander, the famous stock dealer, visited his sister, Mrs. J. W. Mowers recently.

James Brown made a flying trip to Altoona last week.

Mrs. Mary, Fields and Mrs. E. J. Miller made a business trip to the County Seat last week.

Charles Stevens and wife spent the first part of the week at John Raker's.

Mrs. R. E. Brown spent Sunday at Irvin Miller's.

Howard Fix and family spent Saturday evening in the home of Alfred Brown. He had his graphophone along and furnished some fine music.

B. S. Fleming and friend were guests of Alfred Edwards Sunday evening. We are sorry to learn of Alfred being in poor health.

Wm. L. Fields and his gang of men left on Monday for Henry Black's to build a new house.

James Raker was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Chas. Stevens over Sunday.

Why does the sun burn? Why does a mosquito sting? Why do we feel unhappy in the Good Old Summer Time? Answer we do not. We use DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, and these little ills don't bother us. Learn to look for the name on the box to get the genuine. Sold by Trout's Drug Store.

A Birthday Social.

Last Sunday at the home of Dennis Hess, was a scene of a joyous event, occasioned by the celebration of Mrs. Hess's 48th birthday. About 10:30 a. m. her neighbors and friends gathered bringing with them their baskets well filled with dainties for the table.

After greetings had been extended and conversation indulged in all were amply served with dinner under the large spreading trees near by.

Those present were as follows: John Conk, wife and daughter; Andrew Ratz, wife and sister Edie; Nick Flint and family; Allen Skiles and family; Hugh Ewing and daughter Mollie; Andrew Lear and wife; Howard Demisier and family; Geo. Landig and wife; Geo. Taylor and wife; Harry Daxney, wife and daughter Nell; David Fohner and family; Benolds and saddle Fohner; Mrs. G. W. Wink and daughter; Mrs. A. J. Lamberson; Sadie Fields, Lydia Maama, Lucy and Maggie Parcel; Mrs. Emaline Chesnut and daughter; Mrs. Mary Keller, Mrs. Joe Rank and daughter Nettie; Mrs. John Hoover, and Dr. and Mrs. H. C. McClain, making a total of 65 including the Hess family.

After dinner was served the table was filled with a collection of fine and useful presents for which Mrs. Hess is very grateful. We hope that she may enjoy many more happy birthdays.

Rev. J. H. Barney and family wishes to thank the many friends who manifested such a kind loving spirit in acts of helpfulness in the dark hours of our bereavement in the death of a loving wife and an affectionate mother. We wish to mention to Christian sympathy and brotherly love manifested by one of Christ's faithful ministers Rev. J. M. Snyder, pastor of the Lutheran church, such acts of Rev. and Mrs. Snyder is worthy of imitation by all who profess to be ministers of the gospel. May Heavens richest blessing come upon all who assisted us in the darkest period in our lives, and after a little while may we all hear the well done!—J. H. Barney and Children.

Shippensburg State Normal School.

The fall term of the Shippensburg State Normal will open Monday, September 3, 1906. Students desiring to enter at this time should write at once engaging rooms. The indications are that an unusually large number of students will present themselves for enrollment at the opening of the new school year. The fall term is the best time for students to begin their normal school course. Those who enter prepared for the Junior class will find a year none too long to complete satisfactorily the Junior studies. A catalogue of this splendid training school for teachers may be obtained by writing to the principal, G. M. D. Eckels, Shippensburg, Pa.

There is nothing so pleasant as that bright, cheerful, at-peace-with-the-world feeling when you sit down to your breakfast. There is nothing so conducive to good work and good results. The healthy man with a healthy mind and body is a better fellow, a better workman, a better citizen than the man or woman who is handicapped by some disability, however slight. A slight disorder of the stomach will derange your body, your thoughts and your disposition. Get away from the morbidity and the blues. Keep your stomach in tune and both your brain and body will respond. Little indiscretion of over-eating can be easily corrected and you will be surprised to see how much better man you are. Try a little Kodol for Dyspepsia after your meals. Sold by Trout's Drug Store.

FRANKLIN MILLS.

Prof. Barton made his annual rounds in this end of the county the past week, and a fine corps of teachers was installed by the School Board of Bethel township. Three of the number, however, are young and inexperienced in the art of teaching, but bright and active young people, eager to engage in work and be self-sustaining, and will doubtless devote all their energies to their chosen work for the present school term.

Young teachers should receive all possible encouragement from patrons and directors in their first effort, for their future success largely depends upon how you start. Start right and you will be pretty sure to come out right. We believe these teachers will give the directors no cause to regret the choice they made.

The question of vaccination is now becoming very prominent before the people. In fact we are square up to the proposition in such a shape that the teacher is the one who suffers by the neglect of the parent or guardian refusing to have the children under their care vaccinated, when the law demands it shall be done.

Much exception has been taken in different localities, and bitterness engendered over this matter of vaccination, but when the matter has been brought to the attention of Courts of Justice, the majesty of the law has been sustained. Calmly consider that the poor school teacher, who is employed and paid by money from the state, is the one who will suffer in case the law is strictly enforced.

Long years ago people vaccinated one another from virus obtained from one arm to another, and no serious results happened. Now, great caution is exercised, and the vaccine matter is carefully put up and sealed, that no danger exists of inoculating other diseases, and will make people immune from that dread disease, small-pox, notwithstanding argument to the contrary.

Painter Killed by Fall.

John C. Stauffer, a painter, fell fifty feet from a gable end of Wilson College, Chambersburg, last Saturday, and died in the ambulance soon afterward. A scaffold upon which he stood gave way, and in falling he was caught by electric wires, bounded into telephone wires, then struck a fire escape, which he could not catch, and fell on his head.

His son who was on a ladder resting on the same scaffold, managed to catch the scrollwork above him and hung there for several minutes, finally drawing himself up to the roof and escaped. The father's back was broken by the fall. He was 47 years old and leaves a wife and four children.

Countless Models at Patent Office.

The Patent Office is about to dispose of many of its models. Under the patent law every applicant for a patent must submit a working model of his invention. Naturally, the Patent Office has an almost endless supply of models. When it is stated that there are 1,810 models of patent mouse traps in the Patent Office, some idea can be formed of the huge array of stuff that has accumulated in the course of years. Some time ago, when the new post office building was finished in Washington, the old Postoffice Department Building on 7th street was turned over almost entirely to the Patent Office as a storehouse for its hundreds of thousands of models, but in a few years this building was crowded, and a large building on G. street, formerly used as the city postoffice, was next filled up.

Naturally, more than half of the models are rubbish, which the Patent Office will find it difficult even to give away. The models of the great inventions, such as the first sewing machine, or the first threshing machine or the first telegraph instrument, and similar inventions that mark eras in the country's development will, of course, be retained by the government. Many other models will probably be acquired by colleges and technical schools. Curiosity seekers will buy some, and very many models will be carried out to the dump somewhere and burned.

The Responsibility of Motorists.

A decision, believed to be the first of its kind, has just been rendered by a judge at Yonkers, N. Y. An automobile occupied by G. W. Bryant and his chauffeur, while racing with another, collided with a carriage and severely injured a woman occupant. The court sentenced the chauffeur to two months imprisonment, and has just sentenced the owner Bryant, to a similar term in the penitentiary. The judge reasoned that if the owner present or absent, commands, incites, encourages, or perhaps permits an employe to violate the law in the management of the owner's property he is subject to the penalties and may be proceeded against as a principal.

In rendering his decision Judge Beall, who when he first went on one bench was inclined to be lenient with violators of the speed laws, said he was moved by several conditions, and prejudice against automobiles was not one of them. "The automobile," he said, "is here to stay." But it must be under such proper legislative regulations, duty enforced by the courts, as will ensure the safety of the persons and property of others. The majority of motorists, he said, recognize this. Upon the careless minority experience had proved that fines are ineffectual.
